

Signs that your cat may be sick

- Coughing-Coughing might be an indication of heart disease. Among other things like Asthma
- Blood in vomit or urine
- Pale pink or white gums
- Listlessness
- More frequent drinking and urinating
- Bad breath-A urine-like smell to the breath could mean kidney disease. A sweet or fruity scent could indicate diabetes. Foul smelling breath could be a Liver problem.
- Sudden changes in appetite
- Significant weight loss, either sudden or gradual could indicate liver disease.
- Unusual shortness of breath
- Any lump on or under the cats skin
- Dehydration-Gently lift the skin along your cat's shoulder area. If your cat is hydrated, the skin will snap back into place very quickly. If it is dehydrated, the skin will stay up in a ridge. CALL YOUR VET if your pet is dehydrated!

Normal temperature for a cat is: 101° - 103°

Normal respiration is: 20-30 breaths per minute

Normal pulse is: 110-140 per minute